U. S. SUPER-FORTRESS BOMBERS BLAST THE JAPANESE STEEL MANUFACTURING CENTER OF YAWATA, S. W. OF TOKYO

Gigantic Bombers Take Off from Undisclosed, Recently Completed Base in China—Pin-Point Accuracy on Targets—Large Fires and Explosions Observed—No Fortresses Lost in The Surprise Flight.

By Joseph A. Bors
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 16.—The War Department disclosed today that America's new giant B-29 Super-Fortress bombers blasted with pin-point accuracy the important Japanese steel manufacturing center of Yawata, 550 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The gigantic bombers took off from an undisclosed, recently completed base in China.

The announcement stated that a "sizeable" task force of the giant sky raiders hit important enemy industrial targets, and fliers returning from the mission said bombing was accurate and that large fires and explosions were observed.

None of the super-fortresses was lost as the result of enemy action despite the fact that anti-aircraft fire was intense and Jap aircraft attempted to intercept the American sky giants.

"Two B-29's were lost as the result of accidents, one crew of which is safe," the communique added.

Tokyo radio earlier admitted the bombing attacks and asserted that the target was Yawata, as well as the cities of Moji and Kokura but the enemy broadcast said that little damage was done.

All three cities are important Japanese industrial centers turning out war materials and are located on the island of Kyushu. Kyushu is southernmost of Honshu, Japan's main island.

Tokyo also reported that the raiding armada included Liberators and Super-Fortresses, and that six of the planes were shot down, including at least one of the B-29's.

Earlier the Jap radio said the raid resulted in damage to the Orin-Kakata railroad, but claimed that damage to industrial areas was slight.

NEW YORK, June 16.—A veritable torrent of anti-aircraft fire engulfed American superfortresses in their first assault against the Japanese home islands which embraced both day and night attacks, Roy Porter, representing the combined Allied networks, broadcast from Chungking today.

Porter, who rode in one of the gigantic bombers from its China base, said that "nearly all the ships came home." His broadcast emphasized the terrific defense put up by Japanese anti-aircraft batteries.

BACK THE BOYS

"American troops fought a swaying battle 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg in northern France on Wednesday," states the chairman of the Fifth War Loan drive. "This marks only one spot where your son, your brother, your sweetheart, or your friend is daily asked to reach certain objectives, in his fight out there—for us. We are asked to reach our 5th War Loan objective in our part of the fight—here at home—for him. You are called on to buy additional 5th War Loan Bonds—now. Put every cent you possibly can into those extra Bonds. This is just another chance to fight with our boys."

Cult Member Gets Five-Year Draft Term

PHILADELPHIA, June 16.—Claude A. Zuck, 27, of Quakertown, a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect, was sentenced to five years in a Federal penitentiary yesterday by Judge J. Cullen Ganev, in U. S. District Court, for failing to obey an order of his draft board to report to a camp for conscientious objectors.

Acting as his own attorney, Zuck, father of a three-year-old child, contended that he was a minister and was wrongly classified. Judge Ganev pointed out that under a ruling of the Supreme Court, draft offenders cannot use as a defense the argument that they have been wrongly classified. The selectee must submit to induction, after which he can obtain a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Ganev said.

FATHERS' DAY WILL BE MARKED SUNDAY

Pastors To Give Consideration To That Day in Sermons

MEETINGS OF WEEK

Fathers' Day will be observed in churches suburban to Bristol on Sunday, with pastors considering special subjects for the occasion. A blind evangelist is to deliver the message at a Tullytown church in the evening. Services are announced as follows for churches in the surrounding towns:

Cornwells Methodist Church
Bristol Pike above Williams street, Cornwells Heights, George C. Larwick, pastor; Sunday School, 10 a. m., under the supervision of Edwin Thomas, superintendent; morning worship, at 11:15, with the pastor preaching; Sunday School board, 2:30 p. m., in the church; evening worship, at seven, with Mr. Larwick bringing the message. Young People's Society, at 8:15, in the church; Monday, at 7:30, Boy Scouts, with William Durr, Scoutmaster, in charge; Mrs. Powell will continue her first aid course with the boys. Bible School will be conducted at Cornwells Methodist Church until July 21, from nine to 11:45.

Croydon Methodist Church
Wilkinson Memorial Methodist Church, State Road and Church street, Croydon, George C. Larwick, pastor; The services on Sunday begin at nine, with Sunday School under the direction of Superintendent Ralston Hedrick. Those participating in the Bible Quiz are asked to have all answers in by Sunday. Morning worship service at 10 will be conducted by the pastor.

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANEED BY SCRIBES

Standing in a semi-circle before the bench in the court room, at Doylestown, Tuesday evening, 54 girls and 38 boys of the class of 1944, Doylestown high school, received their diplomas from William H. Satterthwaite, Jr., president of the class board. Eight members of the class were absent in the armed services and their diplomas were handed to their parents.

In the presence of an audience that occupied every seat, the 52nd annual commencement was carried out with precision and lack of confusion, and the long list of prizes was distributed in a program that lasted a little over two hours.

Two selections by the senior chorus, directed by Miss Elizabeth Myers, with Mary Worrall as the soloist, preceded the introduction of the speaker of the evening, Dr. Raymond Kietler, president of Beaver College.

Erwin E. Shive, 70, of Perkasio, was found dead in his bed, Tuesday, by his daughter, Mrs. Leroy Glassmyer, with whom he has been living for some time. Coroner Raymond D. Tice, Quakertown, said Shive died of a self-inflicted bullet wound in his right temple. A revolver was found near his body.

Mrs. Glassmyer said that shortly after nine o'clock, she had gone to her father's room and noticed him lying in bed with his face to the wall. Thinking he was asleep, she left him, but when he failed to appear for lunch she returned to his room.

EVENING GUESTS

CROYDON, June 16.—Mrs. George Kinsey entertained several friends at her home here last evening. Games were played and refreshments served to: Mrs. William Gantner, Mrs. Jacob Schaum, Mrs. Ira Brown, Mrs. Fred Devoe, Sr., Mrs. Ruth, Mrs. William Luchsing and Mrs. "Billie." Mr. and Mrs. George Kinsey.

Here and There in Bucks County Towns

CROYDON

Mr. and Mrs. William Luchsing and son "Billie" spent Sunday in Philadelphia visiting Mrs. Elizabeth Luchsing.

George C. Geary, Morrisville, visited his daughter, Mrs. Anna Martindale, one day last week. Pvt. Frank Crossley, Jr., returned to San Antonio, Texas, after spending a furlough at his home here. Mrs. Crossley accompanied him on his return to Texas.

Raymond Martindale, who has been a patient in the Wagner hospital, Bristol, has returned to his home. Mr. and Mrs. Morris Shifferstine and daughters, Shirley, Beverly and Sandra, are paying a week's visit to Mrs. Shifferstine's sister in Ohio.

FALLSINGTON

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hann, Jr., are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, in Dr. Wagner's Hospital, Bristol. Mr. Hann, before his marriage, was Miss Mary Jane Chamberlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Chamberlin, of Fallsington.

Miss Emma F. Moon entertained her Sunday School class of All Saints Episcopal Church at a garden party. Those at the party were Shirley Banton, Tamara Foster, Barbara Bachman, Lorraine Bachman, Lena Mae Updike, Mildred Sansone, Janet Tomlinson and Al-dreda Buckalew.

The Misses Elaine and Joyce Schesee, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schesee, of the Fallsington-Emile Road, have gone to Natick, Mass., where they will spend a month with their aunt.

Raymond Hill celebrated his eighth birthday anniversary with a party at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hill.

Dorothy Kellett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kellett, of Fallsington, celebrated her ninth birthday anniversary with a party.

More volunteers are needed to help make surgical dressings for the Fallsington Red Cross unit. Mrs. Nicholas Sansone is chairman. The Rev. and Mrs. William Boyer have left to make a series of talks throughout the Southern States.

TULLYTOWN

Pvt. Arthur Leigh, New York, spent the week-end with his wife and other relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hager, Philadelphia; Donald Hager, A.M.W. 2/c, of Iowa; Mrs. Harry Pittman and daughter Arlene, Edgely, were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Wright.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cramer and daughter "Patsy," Annapolis, Md., are spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Raab.

ART TEACHERS WILL STUDY VISUAL AIDS

Bucks Instructors Plan To Visit Fort Monmouth Next September

SCHOOLMEN GUESTS

Plans are being completed for the art teachers of Bucks County to visit Fort Monmouth, N. J., next September. They will spend their time studying the visual aids department.

The county superintendent of schools, Charles H. Boehm, has just returned from a visit to Fort Monmouth, the 5th army training center he visited in the past year. He and five other Bucks County schoolmen were the guests of G. F. Vandensen, Brigadier General in charge of the Eastern Signal Corps Training Center. Those who accompanied the county superintendent on this trip: Thomas B. Stockham, of Morrisville, a member of the special state commission on school costs; Walter B. Carwithen, a member of the county board; Paul L. Gruber, of the county supervisory staff; Andrew Chamberlin, superintendent of Morrisville schools.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Allied Advance in Italy Rolls On

Naples—Leading elements of the Fifth Army approached Grosseto, 110 miles northwest of Rome, today as the Allied advance in Italy rolled unchecked toward the key city of Florence.

Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters said tersely that the "advance continues on all fronts."

More "Glider Bombs" Fall on Southern England

London—Reports from southern England said that additional radio-controlled German "glider bombs" have fallen in daylight today on southern England.

In the form of pilotless aircraft, the new weapon apparently is being launched from a cross-channel area. It is reported to be a highly explosive bomb mounted on wings, propelled by rocket power and directed by radio control.

Exchangeites Learn "What Is A Physicist?"

The Bristol Exchange Club met last evening in the Elks Home, with President Abraham Binstman presiding. Singing was enjoyed, with Andrew MacArthur directing and Keith Rosser accompanist.

Russell DeLong introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Elbert Carter, a physicist of the Rohm & Haas Co. Mr. Carter has spoken several times to the Exchangeites and is always a welcome guest. He made his talk a follow-up to a previous one, "What Is A Physicist?"

He explained briefly some of the uses of a new product being used in the oil industry to modify the viscosity index of oils which are subjected to wide variations of temperature. He explained how vital this product would be in extremes of temperature, since on all large airplanes the controls are operated by hydraulic pressure valves and controls.

He was asked many questions in the informal talk and many hazy spots in the listeners' knowledge of physics were brought to light and cleared up on a wide variety of subject.

Viscosity and temperature were clearly defined by Mr. Carter. Radar was a subject of particular interest discussed. Wave length and questions of frequency in electronics, explained many of the underlying principles of this subject.

Refraction and reflections of light, sound and electronic waves were also explained and discussed. Mr. Carter was given a warm round of applause at the conclusion of his informal talk.

Arranges Surprise For Her Sister-in-Law

NEWPORTVILLE, June 15.—Mrs. John Cotshott arranged a surprise party for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Cotshott, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the latter's eighth wedding anniversary. Sgt. Harry Cotshott who is in California, had made arrangements to have Mrs. John Cotshott present his wife with a canary in a cage.

Refreshments were served. Others present: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cotshott, Dorothy and Carol Cotshott, and John Cotshott.

TRAINMAN HURT IN WRECK AT YARDLEY

Empty Passenger Train Is Derailed and Coaches Go Over Embankment

ENGINE TURNS OVER

YARDLEY, June 16.—The fireman of a special train, running empty, was the only one of the four-man crew hurt in a wreck here last night.

Injured: Harry Dunlevy, 24, of 4324 Lancaster ave., Phila., taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., with a possible skull fracture. Twelve stitches were taken in a wound on his head.

The steel locomotive, tender and several cars were derailed. The locomotive turned over on its side, and one coach went down the embankment of the elevated road, and one coach hung over the embankment but did not drop, while two coaches were turned cross-wise of the rails. The other coaches of the 16 coach train were derailed but kept to the roadbed.

This scene of the wreck was the elevated line of the Reading Company and occurred just west of the Delaware river bridge and east of the passenger station here at about 6:55 p. m. It is a two-track roadway at this point and across the river.

Rescue squads, firemen and ambulances for miles around rushed to the scene. Cold drinks were served to those engaged in clearing the wreckage away by the canten service of America House, Hook & Ladder Co., No. 2, of Bristol. Two Bristol fire companies, No. 2 and No. 6 responded, and also the Bucks County Rescue Squad with ambulances and other first-aid equipment.

The train, returning to Philadelphia from Durham, N. J., had just passed over the Delaware River bridge from New Jersey when the locomotive left the westbound tracks, taking with it the tender and seven cars.

Railroad traffic was still tied up this morning, but officials hoped to have tracks cleared by noon. Although trains were running regularly during the night and today, a delay was caused due to the necessity of transferring passengers to buses at this point and taking them to West Trenton to board other trains. All freight was moved via Allentown during this period.

No fire occurred, all of the coaches being steel. The engineer, brakeman and conductor escaped injury.

When the train struck an electric standard current was disrupted.

Historic Points in Phila. Visited by Jr. C. D. of A.

CROYDON, June 16.—Troop No. 5, Catholic Daughters Juniorettes, enjoyed a trip to Philadelphia on Wednesday, where they visited historic places which included Independence Hall, Christ Church, Betsy Ross Home and St. Mary's Church. The rector of the latter, the Rev. William Kelly, showed them the historic relics housed there.

Those enjoying the outing: Al-verda Williamson, Dolores Bransch, Louise Lawler, Lois Seaders, Bertha Fortler, Marlene Layton, Amelia Marino, Gertrude Tryon, "Betty" Seaders and the counselor, Mrs. George Beneman.

On Saturday afternoon, Troop No. 2, J. C. D., met at the home of Mrs. Beneman for a meeting. A birthday party was held for all members. Each one took a "Polymath" gift, and these were exchanged. Decorations were in green and white, the Juniors' colors.

EXPOSE THOSE WHO PREY UPON OTHERS

Walter Groff, Well-Known Phila. Business Man, Speaks Here

BEFORE ROTARIANS

Exposing those elements in business, politics and labor who prey upon their fellow American citizens was the theme of an address given by Walter Groff, well-known Philadelphia businessman when he spoke at the local Rotary Club meeting in the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon on the subject, "Racketeers in America."

"When you review the events of the last twenty years you will discover two periods which affected the lives of all our people," Groff declared.

"During the 1920's people worked hard and saved the largest amount of money in the history of the Nation. This brought forth those who wanted this wealth. This group roamed the country seeking unjust claims, under the guise of having the greatest affection for us."

"Then came the year of 1929 and its disaster. It was then we discovered that those who claimed our affection were dishonest. We learned to call them the racketeers of business and finance."

"Next we were taken over by a family affair called the 'New Deal.' This element also coveted the wealth and sought it for their own possession. And these people had no more respect of the people nor love of country than the rascals of 1929."

"And then came the racketeer of labor. I wonder how we can relax at home and listen to the radio and not raise our voices in protest. We are denied all types of liberties which we thought were hereditary. We cannot drive where and when we want, but the racketeers of labor get all the gas and tires they want."

"These racketeers travel about the country under the guise of Unionism, but in reality all they are doing is collecting tribute from men and women workers of America."

"Every piece of arms, every piece of ammunition, every uniform which our soldiers wear—all have had tribute paid to the racketeers of labor."

"How do you suppose the boys in the service are going to feel if when they do come home and have to continue to pay tribute to these racketeers of labor?"

"Don't you think that we of Rotary have fallen down if we do not protect our republic? And this is a republic and not a democracy. There is nothing in our constitution which mentions that it was ever intended to be a democracy."

"We must become conscious of those bad elements of labor, politics and business and we must realize that they are all enemies of our personal life, if we are to do away with them," Groff concluded.

One new member, Devon Smith, was taken into the Club at the meeting yesterday.

SPECIALIZED TRAINING

Jack Sitot, 114 Pond street, and Ralph Nichols, Wood street, have been accepted for the U. S. Army Specialized Training Reserve program, they having undergone examinations at Bristol high school on March 15th. The two localities will report at Pennsylvania Military College, Chester, on July 4th, for a six months' course.

TRANSFERRED

George Molden, Jr., R. T. 3/c, has been home on leave, visiting his parents on Oster street, left last night for Washington, D. C., for further training. Molden has been stationed for several months at Utah State Agricultural College, at Logan, Utah.

TEACHER RETIRES; FACULTY MEMBER FORTY-FOUR YEARS

Mrs. Frank Louderbough Has Been Bath Street School Principal

GIFTS ARE PRESENTED

When a Pupil 11 Years of Age, She Taught The Beginners

Although Mrs. Frank Louderbough, retiring principal of Bath street public school, has been teaching in an official capacity for the past 44 years, her actual instruction of school pupils began a number of years before that. For when she was 11 years of age and a scholar at the old Delaware school, situated along Bristol Pike, at Edgely, she was given the task of instructing the beginners, and each day assumed her job as mentor to the little tots.

It was while still a school girl herself that the then Carrie Munder took her young charges out under the trees at the side of the one-room school house during warm weather, where slates would be put to use and lessons learned. During the colder months the school girl and her seven tiny scholars would use for classes a small room to the side of the main class room, and there sessions would proceed. Her younger brother, the late William Munder, was one of her pupils.

This morning Mrs. Louderbough faced her pupils for the last time in an official capacity, books were closed, the final records turned in, and the door of Bath street school closed behind her—as she faces a well-deserved rest. When asked what her plans for the future include, woman-like she said, "First, I'm going to do my housecleaning." But she did admit, however, that she wants to take advantage of rest, a lot of rest, in the future.

Her 44 years of teaching have been at Bath street school, the building where she attended classes as a girl, after moving to Bristol. She followed her grade school work in that building, and later took her three-year high school course there when Bath street school housed the high school classes. The other two grade schools at that time were Washington and Wood street schools.

Her career as a teacher appeared to be carved out for her as long as she can remember, for when the young woman was a high school student she was assigned as substitute teacher at the Badger school on State Road, Bristol Township, and from time to time was given the task of teaching in the other grades in Bristol borough. Her charges at that time ranged from grades one to four.

After graduation from Bristol high school, Mrs. Louderbough attended West Chester State Normal School. Coming back to Bristol she was assigned as teacher at Bath street school, and has taught there for 44 years. For a number of years she taught grades two to five, having various classes at different periods. For a period of six years she gave up teaching, then returned to her "first love." For the past several years she has served as principal of the Bath street building, and recently has been teaching grades five and six.

Times have changed in the teaching profession, the Bath street resident can attest. During one winter, a number of years ago, she had 63 pupils in her third grade. "At that time there were at least 48 seats in every room. And" she added with a smile, "if there were only 47 pupils in a room, they managed to find one to fill the 48th seat." During the past term Mrs. Louderbough has had 32 in her classroom, this being the largest number in any room in Bath street school at present, with the exception of first grade.

ARMY DOLLAR DETAIL

In this war, as in the last war, the Army hardly ever moves without its inevitable dollar detail bringing up the rear. It is the business of this detail to pay damages.

Did an Army jeep racing madly for the front in North Africa come into such violent collision with an Arab and his donkey as to kill both? If so, the widow received $200 for the loss of her husband and $250 for the loss of the donkey. The price was determined by what is called a custom of the country.

But if the unfortunate Arab and his mule strayed into the path of gunfire, either enemy or American, and suffered the same fatal consequences, the dollar detail would firmly decline to pay.

The War and Navy Departments want the facts known about their claims payments because they have found evidence of the revival of a rumor that was widely circulated during World War I. This rumor had it that every American advance was followed by French peasants wailing demands for rent for trench and foxhole space on their land.
The rumor was entirely false, but it is heard to this day. But the American Expeditionary Force did pay rent for land back of the front which it used for training and maneuvers.

Some day these claims may be charged to the enemy, but they are now paid promptly in the interest of good will, and perhaps not without some thought of what an unpaid claimant can purloin in the name of what he may call justice.

A VALIANT PEOPLE

When the final history of this war is completed, no chapter will be more glorious than that being written by the Chinese. Time after time, when it appeared their armies were doomed, the valiant Chinese have rallied and stopped the invader.

Recently they stopped the most formidable Japanese drive since 1938. With the entire Peiping-Hankow rail line in enemy hands, and the important key base of Loyang surrounded, it appeared the end was in sight.

Foreign observers spoke gloomily of the situation. Communications from Chungking were extremely pessimistic. Possible collapse of Chinese resistance was not only feared but predicted. But it begins to look as if the latest Japanese threat has been put under control.

This turn of affairs is as discouraging to the Japanese as it is welcome to the Allies. The Chinese have fought on and on, with meager equipment and against discouraging odds. Whatever conclusion may be drawn from the story of China's part in the war, one fact stands out above all others: There is no substitute for bravery and national loyalty.

When Hitler said his "new order" would last for a thousand years, he may have meant to say the smell would linger that long.

When the Germans in Italy started making tracks for home, they stepped on the gas.

BURLINGTON, June 16.—By scoring a 10-2 victory over the Alcoa team, the Voltz-Texaco nine moved a step closer to clinching the first half championship of the Bristol Suburban League. The game was played last evening on the Burlington High School field.

Joe McDevitt did the hurling for the gasoleers and held the aluminum workers to seven hits. He struck out 10 batters and issued one pass.

Frank Schele did a fine job on the mound for the Jersey boys until he weakened in the sixth and permitted five runs. He had quite a bit of difficulty in retiring George Ritter who connected for four out of four. The winners had fifteen hits.

Teacher Retires; Faculty Member Forty-Four Years

She has taught children of many of her former pupils, and in one instance has taught three generations. From large families she has had many of the brothers and sisters under her care. And today she hears of many young men in the armed forces whom previously sat at her desks. Two of the number she has learned have lost their lives in action.

When Mrs. Londerbough first taught as a member of Bristol faculty, Miss Mary E. Eagle was principal of the high school on Bath street. The retiring teacher has served under a number of superintendents of schools, including Miss Louise D. Baggs, at one time principal of the high school and later superintendent of schools; also Miss Mathilda Booz, superintendent.

In her period of service in Bristol schools, Mrs. Londerbough has seen the buildings grow from three to five, and has seen the teaching staff more than trebled.

A number of parting gifts have been presented to her, one package being from her own grade, six; and another from the first five grades. Others have remembered her with individual presents. On Wednesday, both Mrs. Londerbough and Miss Helen Fine, the latter advisor of the Safety Patrol, were recipients of bouquets of flowers from the patrol members.

room about one o'clock and noticing that his position was unchanged, she became alarmed and called her husband.

Besides his daughter he is survived by two sons.

Dr. Raymond Kistler, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, talking on "The Price of Peace," at an inter-club meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of Doylestown, warned his listeners that "we must get rid of the idea that America and the English-speaking people are going to rule the world after this war is over."
The speaker commented that "peace is a very popular subject right now but we don't like to talk about the price."

Art Teachers Will Study Visual Aids

The Bucks County schoolmen were deeply impressed with the entire program offered on the post.
They visited the officers' training center, the enlisted men's school, and the field units. The schoolmen made a special study of the visual aids, which are used very effectively at Fort Monmouth.

Col. Shaffer, Lt. Col. Buck, and Major Kenworthy assisted in making the visit a profitable one for the Bucks county schoolmen. They were shown the classroom work in which signal corps technicians are trained, as well as work in camouflage. They spent a great deal of time in the center where visual aids are made for the entire signal corps. They were given an opportunity to observe many of the units going through the obstacle courses and other field hardening processes.

The Bucks county schoolmen have been visiting army camps in order to help the high school boys bridge the gap to army training and in order to study the methods used by the army in their training programs. It is very likely that the Bucks County school administrators group will be visiting the same post in October.

when alarms had gone out after the first attack wave had taken the enemy by surprise.

"Tons upon tons" of bombs were dropped upon coke ovens and open hearth furnaces, Porter said.
"Japanese anti-aircraft fire poured into the sky and shell fragments dug deeply into the super bombers.
But the engines kept turning and nearly all the ships came home."
"When the planes turned homeward, leaving behind the glowing masses of wreckage, Japan had had her answer to Dec. 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor.

"One of the strange things which we encountered over the target was the absence of Jap night fighters.

We didn't see a single one, and our gunners were disappointed."

BADENHAUSEN NINE GETS FIRMER HOLD ON SECOND PLACE

Cornwells Heights Team Defeats Diamond Club

FINAL SCORE IS 5 TO 1

Paul Makes Hit Which Scores the Runs For The Victors

Other Sports on Page Two

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 16.—Three runs in the sixth gave the Badenhause team a firmer grip on second place in the Bristol Suburban League last evening as the Paddies scored a 5-1 triumph over the Diamond club.

The trio of markers were the result of a hit by Paul, Ervin's sacrifice, a walk to Cobleigh and doubles by Bowman and Leo Hibbs.

Paul Dean hurled the iron workers to the victory, holding Diamond to five hits. Dean had wonderful control as he whiffed 10 batters and did not issue a pass.

R. & H. LOSES TO EASTERN AIRCRAFT

TRENTON, N. J., June 16.—The Eastern Aircraft nine gave Rohm and Haas its fifteenth straight reverse of the Trenton Industrial League last evening on Wetzel field. Final score was 6-2, with the airplane workers scoring four times in the fifth to cop the verdict.

"Jack" Dougherty who hurled for the Eastern team held the chemical mixers to a pair of hits, they being a single by Caro in the second and a safe blow by Sullivan in the sixth.

U. S. SUPER-FORTRESS BOMBERS BLAST THE JAPANESE STEEL MANUFACTURING CENTER OF YAWATA, S. W. OF TOKYO

Gigantic Bombers Take Off from Undisclosed, Recently Completed Base in China—Pin-Point Accuracy on Targets—Large Fires and Explosions Observed—No Fortresses Lost in The Surprise Flight.

By Joseph A. Bors
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, June 16—The War Department disclosed today that America's new giant B-29 Super-Fortress bombers blasted with pin-point accuracy the important Japanese steel manufacturing center of Yawata, 550 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The gigantic bombers took off from an undisclosed, recently completed base in China.

The announcement stated that a "sizeable" task force of the giant sky raiders hit important enemy industrial targets, and fliers returning from the mission said bombing was accurate and that large fires and explosions were observed.

None of the super-fortresses was lost as the result of enemy action despite the fact that anti-aircraft fire was intense and Jap aircraft attempted to intercept the American sky giants.

"Two B-29's were lost as the result of accidents, one crew of which is safe," the communicate added.

Tokyo radio earlier admitted the bombing attacks and asserted that the target was Yawata, as well as the cities of Moji and Kokura but the enemy broadcast said that little damage was done.

All three cities are important Japanese industrial centers turning out war materials and are located on the island of Kyushu. Kyushu is southernmost of Honshu, Japan's main island.

Tokyo also reported that the raiding armada included Liberators and Super-Fortresses, and that six of the planes were shot down, including at least one of the B-29's.

Earlier the Jap radio said the raid resulted in damage to the Orto-Kakata railroad, but claimed that damage to industrial areas was slight.

NEW YORK, June 16—A veritable torrent of anti-aircraft fire engulfed American superfortresses in their first assault against the Japanese home islands which embraced both day and night attacks, Roy Porter, representing the combined Allied networks, broadcast from Chungking today.

Porter, who rode in one of the gigantic bombers from its China base, said that "nearly all the ships came home." His broadcast emphasized the terrific defense put up by Japanese anti-aircraft batteries.

"American troops fought a swaying battle 14 miles southeast of Cherbourg in northern France on Wednesday," states the chairman of the Fifth War Loan drive. "This marks only one spot where your son, your brother, your sweetheart, or your friend is daily asked to reach certain objectives. In his fight out there—for us. We are asked to reach our 5th War Loan objective in our part of the fight—here at home—for him. You are called on to buy additional 5th War Loan Bonds—now. Put every cent you possibly can into those extra Bonds. This is just another chance to fight with our boys."

Cult Member Gets Five-Year Draft Term

PHILADELPHIA, June 16—Claude A. Zuck, 27, of Quakertown, a member of the Jehovah's Witness sect, was sentenced to five years in a Federal penitentiary yesterday by Judge J. Cullen Ganey, in U. S. District Court, for failing to obey an order of his draft board to report to a camp for conscientious objectors.

Acting as his own attorney, Zuck, father of a three-year-old child, contended that he was a minister and was wrongly classified. Judge Ganey pointed out that under a ruling of the Supreme Court, draft offenders cannot use as a defense the argument that they have been wrongly classified. The selectee must submit to induction, after which he can obtain a writ of habeas corpus, Judge Ganey said.

FATHERS' DAY WILL BE MARKED SUNDAY

Pastors To Give Consideration To That Day in Sermons

MEETINGS OF WEEK

Fathers' Day will be observed in churches suburban to Bristol on Sunday, with pastors considering special subjects for the occasion. A blind evangelist is to deliver the message at a Tullytown church in the evening. Services are announced as follows for churches in the surrounding towns:

Cornwells Methodist Church

Bristol Pike above Williams street, Cornwells Heights, George C. Lurwick, pastor; Sunday School, 10 a. m., under the supervision of Edwin Thomas, superintendent; morning worship, at 11.15, with the pastor preaching; Sunday School board, 2.30 p. m. in the church; evening worship, at seven, with Mr. Lurwick bringing the message.

Young People's Society, at 8.15, in the church; Monday, at 7.30, Boy Scouts, with William Durr, Scoutmaster, in charge; Mrs. Powell will continue her first aid course with the boys.

Bible School will be conducted at Cornwells Methodist Church until July 21, from nine to 11.45.

Croydon Methodist Church

Wilkinson Memorial Methodist Church, State Road and Church street, Croydon, George C. Lurwick, pastor; The services on Sunday begin at nine, with Sunday School under the direction of Superintendent Ralston Hedrick. Those participating in the Bible Quiz are urged to have all answers in by Sunday. Morning worship service at 10 will be conducted by the pastor.

CLARK DECORATES BUCKS CO. SOLDIER

Pfc. Knappenberger Had Been Hailed As "One-Man" Army

DISPLAYED BRAVERY

FOUNTAINVILLE, June 16—This community's former farm boy, Pfc. Alton Knappenberger, who some weeks ago was hailed as a "One-Man Army" because of his heroic action on the Anzio beach-head, was decorated with the Congressional Medal of Honor by no less a personage than Lieut. General Mark W. Clark, commander of the Fifth Army, which has seen such action in Italy.

The presentation to Knappenberger, who some years ago was employed on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. J. Arthur Shelly, near here, took place in the gardens of King Victor Emmanuel's residence in Rome.

Sharing the honor with the 20-year-old former farm hand was Staff Sgt. Paul Huff, Cleveland, Tenn., who received the same high award.

Announcement was made on May 25 that Knappenberger would be eligible to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Pfc. Knappenberger, a Third Division automatic rifleman who is still assigned to the Mediterranean theatre, is credited with preventing even more serious losses during a hard fought battle near Cisterna Di Littoria, February 1, in which every officer in his company and every non-commissioned officer in his platoon was a casualty.

The incident occurred after the Americans had attacked. The Germans counter-attacked in great force, halting the Americans. He fired first at one German and then another, keeping the whole platoon pinned down.

Knappenberger's ammunition then ran out, whereupon he crawled 15 yards forward through steady machine gun fire, removed rifle clips from the belt of a casualty, returned to his position and resumed firing.

Finn's his ammunition completely exhausted, he rejoined his company 300 yards to the rear.

Knappenberger, inducted December 14, 1942, is the son of Mr. Harvey Seibert, Spring Mount. He was born at Coopersburg.

Lewis J. Simons Hurt In Auto-Truck Crash

CROYDON, June 16—Lewis J. Simons is being treated at his home here for injuries suffered in a motor accident at Morrisville on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Simons, who has been ordered to bed by his physician, has a head injury, and lacerations of the knee and abdomen. X-rays are planned within a few days to determine extent of injuries.

It is stated that Simons' car and a truck crashed at an intersection, the front part of the localite's machine being greatly damaged. The car was towed here, Mr. Simons accompanying it. When he reached home a physician was called to attend him, and Mr. Simons was ordered to bed. The localite is a deputy collector for the Office of Internal Revenue, he being located at the Bristol office.

The driver of the truck was Louis Calabressa, Philadelphia, the truck being owned by William F. Smith, Trenton, N. J.

LATEST NEWS BULLETINS

Allied Advance in Italy Rolls On

Naples—Leading elements of the Fifth Army approached Grosseta, 119 miles northwest of Rome, today as the Allied advance in Italy rolled unchecked toward the key city of Florence.

Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters said tersely that the "advance continues on all fronts."

More "Glider Bombs" Fall on Southern England

London—Reports from southern England said that additional radio-controlled German "glider bombs" have fallen in daylight today on southern England.

In the form of pilotless aircraft, the new weapon apparently is being launched from a cross-channel area. It is reported to be a highly explosive bomb mounted on wings, propelled by rocket power and directed by radio control.

Exchangeites Learn "What Is A Physicist?"

The Bristol Exchange Club met last evening in the Elks Home, with President Abraham Bustraan presiding. Singing was enjoyed, with Andrew MacArthur directing and Keith Rosser accompanist.

Russell DeLong introduced the speaker of the evening, Dr. Elbert Carter, a physicist of the Rohm & Haas Co. Mr. Carter has spoken several times to the Exchangeites and is always a welcome guest. He made his talk a follow-up to a previous one, "What is a Physicist?"

He explained briefly some of the uses of a new product being used in the oil industry to modify the viscosity index of oils which are subjected to wide variations of temperature. He explained how vital this product would be in extremes of temperature, since on all large airplanes the controls are operated by hydraulic pressure valves and controls.

He was asked many questions in the informal talk and many hazy spots in the listeners' knowledge of physics were brought to light and cleared up on a wide variety of subjects.

Viscosity and temperature were clearly defined by Mr. Carter. Radar was a subject of particular interest discussed. Wave length and questions of frequency in electronics, explained many of the underlying principles of this subject.

Refraction and reflections of light, sound and electronic waves were also explained and discussed.

Mr. Carter was given a warm round of applause at the conclusion of his informal talk.

Arranges Surprise For Her Sister-in-Law

NEWPORTVILLE, June 16—Mrs. John Cotshott arranged a surprise party for her sister-in-law, Mrs. Harry Cotshott, Tuesday evening, the occasion being the latter's eighth wedding anniversary. Sgt. Harry Cotshott, who is in California, had made arrangements to have Mrs. John Cotshott present his wife with a canary in a cage.

Refreshments were served. Others present: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cotshott, Dorothy and Carol Cotshott, and John Cotshott.

TRAINMAN HURT IN WRECK AT YARDLEY

Empty Passenger Train Is Derailed and Coaches Go Over Embankment

ENGINE TURNS OVER

YARDLEY, June 16—The fireman of a special train, running empty, was the only one of the four-man crew hurt in a wreck here last night.

Injured: Harry Dunlevy, 24, of 4324 Lancaster ave., Phila. Taken to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J., with a possible skull fracture. Twelve stitches were taken in a wound on his head.

The steam locomotive, tender and several cars were derailed. The locomotive turned over on its side, and one coach went down the embankment of the elevated road, one other coach hung out over the embankment but did not drop, while two coaches were turned cross-wise of the rails. The other coaches of the 16 coach train were derailed but kept to the roadbed.

The scene of the wreck was the elevated line of the Reading Company and occurred just west of the Delaware river bridge and east of the passenger station here at about 6.55 p. m. It is a two-track roadway at this point and across the river.

Rescue squads, firemen and ambulances for miles around rushed to the scene. Cold drinks were served to those engaged in clearing the wreckage away by the canteen service of America Hose, Hook & Ladder Co. No. 2, of Bristol. Two Bristol fire companies, No. 2 and No. 6, responded, and also the Bucks County Rescue Squad with ambulances and other first-aid equipment.

The train, returning to Philadelphia from Durham, N. J., had just passed over the Delaware River bridge from New Jersey when the locomotive left the westbound tracks, taking with it the tender and seven cars.

Railroad traffic was still tied up this morning, but officials hoped to have tracks cleared by noon. Although trains were running regularly during the night and today, a delay was caused due to the necessity of transferring passengers to buses at this point and taking them to West Trenton to board other trains. All freight was moved via Allentown during this period.

No fire occurred, all of the coaches being steel. The engineer, brakeman and conductor escaped unharm.

When the train struck an electric standard current was disrupted.

Historic Points in Phila. Visited by Jr. C. D. of A.

CROYDON, June 16—Troop No. 5, Catholic Daughter Juniorsettes, enjoyed a trip to Philadelphia on Wednesday, where they visited historic places which included Independence Hall, Christ Church, Betsy Ross Home and St. Mary's Church. The rector of the latter, the Rev. William Kelly, showed them the historic relics housed there.

Those enjoying the outing: Al-verda Williamson, Dolores Bransch, Louise Lawler, Lois Seaders, Bertha Fortier, Marlene Layton, Amelia Marino, Gertrude Tryon, "Betty" Seaders and the counsellor, Mrs. George Benemann.

On Saturday afternoon, Troop No. 2, J. C. D., met at the home of Mrs. Benemann for a meeting. A birthday party was held for all members. Each one took a "Pollyanna" gift, and these were exchanged. Decorations were in green and white, the Juniors' colors.

EXPOSE THOSE WHO PREY UPON OTHERS

Walter Groff, Well-Known Phila. Business Man, Speaks Here

BEFORE ROTARIANS

Exposing those elements in business, politics and labor who prey upon their fellow American citizens was the theme of an address given by Walter Groff, well-known Philadelphia businessman when he spoke at the local Rotary Club meeting in the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon on the subject, "Racketeers in America."

"When you review the events of the last twenty years you will discover two periods which affected the lives of all our people," Groff declared.

"During the 1920's people worked hard and saved the largest amount of money in the history of the Nation. This brought forth those who wanted this wealth. This group roamed the country seeking unjust claims, under the guise of having the greatest affection for us."

"Then came the year of 1929 and the disaster. It was then we discovered that those who claimed our affection were dishonest. We learned to call them the racketeers of business and finance."

"Next we were taken over by a family affair called the New Deal. This element also coveted the wealth and sought it for their own possession. And these people had no more respect of the people nor love of country than the rascals of 1929."

"And then came the racketeer of labor. I wonder how we can relax at home and listen to the radio and not raise our voices in protest. We are denied all types of liberties which we thought were hereditary. We cannot drive where and when we want, but the racketeers of labor get all the gas and tires they want."

"These racketeers travel about the country under the guise of Unionism, but in reality all they are doing is collecting tribute from men and women workers of America."

"Every piece of arms, every piece of ammunition, every uniform which our soldiers wear—all have had tribute paid to the racketeers of labor."

"How do you suppose the boys in the service are going to feel if when they do come home and have to continue to pay tribute to these racketeers of labor?"

"Don't you think that we of Rotary have fallen down if we do not protect our republic? And this is a republic and not a democracy. There is nothing in our constitution which mentions that it was ever intended to be a democracy."

"We must become conscious of those bad elements of labor, politics and business and we must realize that they are all enemies of our personal life, if we are to do away with them," Groff concluded.

One new member, Devon Smith, was taken into the Club at the meeting yesterday.

SPECIALIZED TRAINING

TEACHER RETIRES; FACULTY MEMBER FORTY-FOUR YEARS

Mrs. Frank Louderbough Has Been Bath Street School Principal

When a Pupil 11 Years of Age, She Taught The Beginners

Although Mrs. Frank Louderbough, retiring principal of Bath street public school, has been teaching in an official capacity for the past 44 years, her actual instruction of school pupils began a number of years before that. For when she was 11 years of age and a scholar at the old Delaware school, situated along Bristol Pike, at Edgely, she was given the task of instructing the beginners, and each day assumed her job as mentor to the little tots.

It was while still a school girl herself that the then Carrie Minster took her young charges out under the trees at the side of the one-room school house during warm weather, where slates would be put to use and lessons learned. During the colder months the school girl and her seven tiny scholars would use for classes a small room to the side of the main class room, and there sessions would proceed. Her younger brother, the late William Minster, was one of her pupils.

This morning Mrs. Louderbough faced her pupils for the last time in an official capacity, books were closed, the final records turned in, and the door of Bath street school closed behind her—as she faces a well-deserved rest. When asked what her plans for the future include, woman-like she said, "First, I'm going to do my housecleaning." But she did admit, however, that she wants to take advantage of rest, a lot of rest, in the future.

Her 44 years of teaching have been at Bath street school, the building where she attended classes as a girl, after moving to Bristol. She followed her grade school work in that building, and later took her three-year high school course there when Bath street school housed the high school classes. The other two grade schools at that time were Washington and Wood street schools.

Her career as a teacher appeared to be carved out for her as long as she can remember, for when the young woman was a high school student she was assigned as substitute teacher at the Badger school on State Road, Bristol Township; and from time to time was given the task of teaching in the other grades in Bristol borough. Her charges at that time ranged from grades one to four.

After graduation from Bristol high school, Mrs. Louderbough attended West Chester State Normal School. Coming back to Bristol she was assigned as teacher at Bath street school, and has taught there for 44 years. For a number of years she taught grades two to five, having various classes at different periods. For a period of six years she gave up teaching, then returned to her "first love." For the past several years she has served as principal of the Bath street building, and recently has been teaching grades five and six.

Times have changed in the teaching profession, the Bath street resident can attest. During one winter, a number of years ago, she had 63 pupils in her third grade. "At that time there were at least 48 seats in every room. And" she added with a smile, "if there were only 47 pupils in a room, they managed to find one to fill the 48th seat." During the past term Mrs. Louderbough has had 32 in her classroom, this being the largest number in any room in Bath street school at present, with the exception of first grade.

ARMY DOLLAR DETAIL

In this war, as in the last war, the Army hardly ever moves without its inevitable dollar detail bringing up the rear. It is the business of this detail to pay damages.

Did an Army jeep racing madly for the front in North Africa come into such violent collision with an Arab and his donkey as to kill both? If so, the widow received $200 for the loss of her husband and $250 for the loss of the donkey. The price was determined by what is called a custom of the country.

But if the unfortunate Arab and his mule strayed into the path of gunfire, either enemy or American, and suffered the same fatal consequences, the dollar detail would firmly decline to pay.

The War and Navy Departments want the facts known about their claims payments because they have found evidence of the revival of a rumor that was widely circulated during World War I. This rumor had it that every American advance was followed by French peasants waving demands for rent for trench and foxhole space on their land. The rumor was entirely false, but it is heard to this day. But the American Expeditionary Force did pay rent for land back of the front which it used for training and maneuvers.

Some day these claims may be charged to the enemy, but they are now paid promptly in the interest of good will, and perhaps not without some thought of what an unpaid claimant can purloin in the name of what he may call justice.

A VALIANT PEOPLE

When the final history of this war is completed, no chapter will be more glorious than that being written by the Chinese. Time after time, when it appeared their armies were doomed, the valiant Chinese have rallied and stopped the invader.

Recently they stopped the most formidable Japanese drive since 1938. With the entire Peiping-Hankow rail line in enemy hands, and the important key base of Loyang surrounded, it appeared the end was in sight.

Foreign observers spoke gloomily of the situation. Communiques from Chungking were extremely pessimistic. Possible collapse of Chinese resistance was not only feared but predicted. But it begins to look as if the latest Japanese threat has been put under control.

This turn of affairs is as discouraging to the Japanese as it is welcome to the Allies. The Chinese have fought on and on, with meager equipment and against discouraging odds. Whatever conclusion may be drawn from the story of China's part in the war, one fact stands out above all others: There is no substitute for bravery and national loyalty.

When Hitler said his "new order" would last for a thousand years, he may have meant to say the smell would linger that long.

When the Germans in Italy started making tracks for home, they stepped on the gas.

She has taught children of many of her former pupils, and in one instance has taught three generations. From large families she has had many of the brothers and sisters under her care. And today she hears of many young men in the armed forces whom previously sat at her desks. Two of the number she has learned have lost their lives in action.

When Mrs. Lunderbough first taught as a member of Bristol faculty, Miss Mary E. Eagle was principal of the high school on Bath street. The retiring teacher has served under a number of superintendents of schools, including Miss Louise D. Baggs, at one time principal of the high school and later superintendent of schools, also Miss Matilda Booz, superintendent.

In her period of service in Bristol schools, Mrs. Lunderbough has seen the buildings grow from three to five, and has seen the teaching staff more than trebled.

A number of parting gifts have been presented to her, one package being from her own grade, six, and another from the first five grades. Others have remembered her with individual presents. On Wednesday, both Mrs. Lunderbough and Miss Helen Fine, the latter advisor of the Safety Patrol, were recipients of bouquets of flowers from the patrol members.

Besides his daughter he is survived by two sons.

Dr. Raymond Kistler, president of Beaver College, Jenkintown, talking on "The Price of Peace," at an inter-club meeting of the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of Doylestown, warned his listeners that "we must get rid of the idea that America and the English-speaking people are going to rule the world after this war is over."

The speaker commented that "peace is a very popular subject right now but we don't like to talk about the price."

Art Teachers Will Study Visual Aids

The Bucks County schoolmen were deeply impressed with the entire program offered on the post. They visited the officers' training center, the enlisted men's school, and the field units. The schoolmen made a special study of the visual aids, which are used very effectively at Fort Monmouth.

Col. Shaffer, Lt. Col. Buck, and Major Kenworthy assisted in making the visit a profitable one for the Bucks county schoolmen. They were shown the classroom work in which signal corps technicians are trained, as well as work in camouflage. They spent a great deal of time in the center where visual aids are made for the entire signal corps. They were given an opportunity to observe many of the units going through the obstacle courses and other field hardening processes.

The Bucks county schoolmen have been visiting army camps in order to help the high school boys bridge the gap to army training.

and in order to study the methods used by the army in their training programs. It is very likely that the Bucks County school administrators group will be visiting the same post in October.

U. S. Super-Fortress Bombers Blast 'Jap' Steel Mfg. Center S. W. of Tokyo

when alarms had gone out after the first attack wave had taken the enemy by surprise.

"Tons upon tons" of bombs were dropped upon coke ovens and open hearth furnaces, Porter said.

"Japanese anti-aircraft fire poured into the sky and shell fragments dug deeply into the super bombers. But the engines kept turning and nearly all the ships came home."

"When the planes turned homeward, leaving behind the glowing masses of wreckage, Japan had had her answer to Dec. 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor.

"One of the strange things which we encountered over the target was the absence of Jap night fighters. We didn't see a single one, and our gunners were disappointed."

Home Nursing Class Has A Graduate Party

ANDALUSIA, June 16—A graduate party was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. T. Samuel Flemming, Bristol Pike, for the American Red Cross home nursing class that recently finished its course of instruction.

After a delightful repast of tomato and lettuce salad, potato salad, cole slaw, cold meats, deviled eggs, rolls, lemon butter, coffee and cookies, many of the graduates enjoyed playing badminton.

Mothers were invited to take their children to the celebration.

Those attending: Mrs. Paul Dean, R. N., instructress of the class; Mrs. Helen O. Bowman, chairman of home nursing; Mrs. Helen Hoff, Mrs. Marion Gough, Mrs. Charles Henty, Mrs. Norman Gaugler, Mrs. Louise Powell, Mrs. William Ervin, Jr., Mrs. Frances Yeagle, Mrs. Harold Tithers, and Mrs. Flemming.

Pastor

Bristol Presbyterian Church

We implore Thy blessing, our Father. Deliver us this day from all our doubts and fears and from all that repels, and draw us near to Thee by all those encouragements which comfort the soul and which strengthen our faith, our hope, and our fidelity to Thee. We beseech of Thee, day by day, to confess our sinfulness and we forgive our sins and everything in us which offends. Give us not only clearer light, but grace to walk in that light. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

BADENHAUSEN NINE GETS FIRMER HOLD ON SECOND PLACE

Cornwells Heights Team Defeats Diamond Club

FINAL SCORE IS 5 TO 1

Paul Makes Hit Which Scores the Runs For The Victors

Other Sports on Page Two

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, June 16.—Three runs in the sixth gave the Badenhause team a firmer grip on second place in the Bristol Suburban League last evening as the Baddies scored a 5-1 triumph over the Diamond club.

The trio of markers were the result of a hit by Paul, Ervin's sacrifice, a walk to Cobleigh and doubles by Bowman and Leo Hibbs. Paul Dean hurled the iron workers to the victory, holding Diamond to five hits. Dean had wonderful control as he whiffed 10 batters and did not issue a pass.

R. & H. LOSES TO EASTERN AIRCRAFT

TRENTON, N. J., June 16.—The Eastern Aircraft nine gave Rohm and Haas its fifteenth straight reverse of the Trenton Industrial League last evening on Wetzel field. Final score was 6-2, with the airplane workers scoring four times in the fifth to cap the verdict.

"Jack" Dougherty who hurled for the Eastern team held the chemical mixers to a pair of hits, they being a single by Caro in the second and a safe blow by Sullivan in the sixth.

Sportsmen's Briefs

By JOE ELBERSON

Bass season opened . . . yesterday, June 15, Bass fishing in the Delaware became legal. Season doesn't open in inland waters until July 1st. Expect to give it a try in the upper Delaware in the near future.

Sportsmen's newspaper . . . in a few weeks the initial issue of a newspaper devoted to items of interest to Bucks County sportsmen will make its appearance under the sponsorship of the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Ed Balderston, Morrisville, is chairman in charge of the project. Local clubs, or individuals, with interesting items on hunting, fishing, forestry, trapping, etc., should contact Mr. Balderston so that the news can be printed in the paper.

Casting tournament . . . the Middle Atlantic Association of Casting Clubs will hold its 7th annual tournament this Sunday at Willow Grove Park with six principal casting events scheduled.

Prizes of war bonds and stamps will be awarded on the class-system basis, so that beginners can be among the winners. Entries in all events will open at 10 a. m. and close at 3 p. m.

The scheduled events include: 5/8 oz. plug accuracy event; 5/8 oz. plug distance event; fly accuracy event; fly distance event; surf casting event with regular everyday tackle; and surf casting event according to the rules of the Association of Surf Angling Clubs.

They weren't biting (again) . . . fished West Creek Saturday evening. Up until the rain drove us to cover and forced us to quit we had four shales, one shark and one croaker.

Date to remember: Monday, June 19 . . . next meeting of the Edgely Rod & Gun Club in the Headley Manor Fire House.

Final trout stocking . . . The nearby Wissahickon creek receives its final stocking of trout today. A tank truck from the Bellefonte hatchery is scheduled at the Creek at 1:30 today. When completed there will have been 7,000 legal-sized trout planted in the Wissahickon since March of this year.
